Thursday Evening, Dec. 2, 1852 CUBA EXCITEMENT .- It would seem that

Mr. George Law is deeply interested in a War with Cube, and should he be permitted much as a rock could feel, agitation at the to bring it about, he will make a handsome prospect before it. The seam gradually opened, little patches of earth disengaged do the fighting. New York city is the head the big rock was about to take a leap into quarters of his operations, and there nearly the foaming caldron below. Quite a conall the excitement originates. The New course of visiters gathered on the bank a-York Evening Post, the leading Democratic bove, and the men ran from their work, some journal of the city, does not hesitate to in fear and trembling, to the top of the charge Law and his associates, owners of the charge Law and his associates, owners of the charge Law and his associates, owners of the way. This their honors, and to obliterate the traces swine. His stock is a cross of Belford and charge Law and his associates, owners of the way. At length the monster gave signs of acute internal distress: the trees signs of acute internal distress: the trees signs of acute internal distress: the trees which stood upon it began to nod good-bye; the seam rent and the year, an unhealthy and feverish state of feeling between this Government and the anthorities of Cuba"—that upon the arrival anthorities of matory reports have been circulated by the pipe-stems. But when it reached the river a most magnificent spectacle was presented. There rose, like a great water giant, a white column of spray and mist a hundred feet pression that some offence had been com- high-incredible as it may seem, those who mited by the Governor General of Cuba that demanded war and subjugation of the Island.
